Notice of His Candidacy Opens Bitter Fight With Willis Men.

ANTISALOON LEAGUE AGAINST SECRETARY

Browns, His Managers, Aided Their Foes, State Dry Heads Charge.

(Staff Correspondent.)

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 13.-In view of the intense bitterness already apparent in the coming Hoover-Willis battle for the Ohio delegation, there are political prophets here who now believe that Hoover's chance for the Republican ominatoin will stand or fall, according to the outcome of the primary contest n this hard-shelled Buckeye State.

The immediate effect of Hoover's anuncement that he will enter the State has been to arouse the Willis followers and the regular Republican organization in this vicinity to train their guns on Walter Brown and Thad H. Brown, Hoover's campaign managers. as well as on Hoover's policies and on Hoover himself, From the beginning of a day spent in surveying the situation here until close to midnight, I have heard nothing but attacks and counter-attacks, with each side plunging mercilessly at the other, with the utton off the foil. It would not be strictly accurate to say it is going to be a knock-down, drag-out fight, for the fighting has actually begun. Will Continue Until Primary.

That the battle will continue unbated from now until April 24, when the primaries are held, appears probable. If an alleged weak spot in either the Hoover or Willis organization is not dragged out and paraded from end to end of the State, it will be little short of a miracle. Accepting the challenge of the Hoover men, the Willis supporters say it is a question of make or break Hoover from now on and that they are going to take charge of the breaking part of the program.

Meanwhile, Thad Brown has arrived here full of fight and having only messages of defiance for the opposition The Willis organization is already showing signs of crumbling in spots, he said, adding that he will listen to no compromise and give no quarter Two of the prospective Willis dele his best, but in the long run a man tells me, have offered to make Hoover their second choice if no Hoover delegates are pitted against them.

acted as conductor last night. For the first time in Washington last night saxophones and banjos were used in a grand opera orchestra to emphasize the modern American jazz themes which appeared here and there in the score.

Trio of Grand Stars.

A trio of grand opera stars, France Peralta, prima donna soprano; Howard Preston, American basso, and Arthur Hackett-Granville took the principal oles in last night's opera.

A representative audience from diploofficial and residential as well as music lovers filled the theater ractically to capacity. There were per of formal dinners preceded the per-

"A Light From St. Agnes" is a one act opera and its presentation last night was preceded by a series of drama dancof American composers. The music for these dances was conducted by Lamar Stringfield, American composer On the program of the dancers the first time in public last night and evoked enthusiasm and applause from the audience to such an extent that Mr. Stringfield had to acknowledge the audits at their conclusion from his ace in the conductor's stand.

Because "A Light From St. Agnes" was new to Washingtonians much interest was taken in the story of the opera. It was laid in a small town in oid Louisiana where the Convent of St. Agnes had given spiritual solace to the villagers for years. Agnes Devereaux, a wealthy recluse, was its patron and in the last year of her life she retired there after building a chapel for her patron saint, Agnes.

Cross of Diamonds Saved.

After the death of Agnes Devereaux, her desire to redeem Toinette, the town Magdalene, is related to the woman. Toinette saves the big cross of diamonds worn by the deadl woman as she lay on her bier in the chapel by betraying her lover, who has planned to steal the jeweled crucifix and escape to New Orleans. Michel, the lover, stabs Toinette for her treachery to him and the repentant Magdalene dies, glorying in her rescue of the sacred symbol and her own redemption from a life of sin. The tragic elements and the deep religious sentiment were admirably portrayed in the music itself and a striking feature were the old Creole melodies of Louisians recurring again and again in the score. After the death of Agnes Devereaux, The jazz motifs were novel, but less satisfying. After all, jazz is not typical of American life on the whole and it is too evanescent in character to deserve perpetuation in grand opera.

Surely in operatic drama, if nowhere else, we can dispense with the eternal jazz strains, the tomtom of a fevered

Yet "A Light From St. Agnes" is built, generally speaking, on solid musical lines and in the main adheres to the classic traditions for this style of composition. The plot of the opera was almost too slender for grand opera set—as a matter of fact, the general imwell conceived.

There are several good arias in it, notably the love aria, sung by Toinette, which was well done by Frances Peralta, who put much realistic acting as well as adequate vocal treatment into this

Senate Arrest of Oil Man Scored in Brief on Writ

Adkins Argues That Habeas Corpus Order in Stewart Case Should Be Made Permanent; Authority of Senate Over Witness Challenged.

The action of the Senate in ordering the arrest of Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, after he had refused to answer two of the questions propounded by the committee on public lands, was attacked and termed an invasion of the oil man's constitutional right in the brief filed vesterday with Justice Jenter filed vesterday wit brief filed yesterday with Justice Jennings Balley by Jesse C. Adkins. The attorney's contention was that in view of the facts which he cited the writ of habeas corpus should be made permanent.

Mr. Adkins in his brief, which is to be answered before the end of the week by George W. Wickersham, special Government counsel, insisted that the Senate lacked the power to order the arrest of the witness for the mere purpose of compelling his attendance when the witness in question had already answered a Senate subpens; that the Senate exceeded its power because it had no legislative purpose in the present inquiry and that the questions which Mr. Stewart refused to answer were purely private and personal in their nature.

"This case," said Mr. Adkins, "involves the most sacred right of the citizen. Petitioner in the exercise of his best judgment conscientiously believes that his constitutional rights were invaded. It was, therefore, not only his right but his duty to himself and to every citizen of this country to fearlessly stand upon his constitutional rights at whatever risk or cost to himself."

In support of his contention that the of the facts which he cited the writ of habeas corpus should be made permanent.

The grand jury, meanwhile, completed consideration of the evidence which the Government placed before it in support of its effort to indict Mr. Stewart on the ground that he had been in contempt of the Senate. It was learned yesterday afternoon that all that remained to be done was the actual drawing of the indictment, which might occupy several days' time in the event such action is authorized by the grand jury.

Howard Preston was a convincing Michel, but overplayed his part somewhat. His voice is a mellow, well-balanced and managed basso, and in the dramatic moments he rose to the requirements of histrionic art. Arthur Hackett-Granville, as Pere Bertrand, was effective and Adolph Turner, as Pletre, deserves a special word of praise.

Musically speaking, the best moment of the opera was the singing of the male quartet with Toinette's refrain to the music of the castanets early in the opera. There was haunting beauty of melody in this quartet and it is of a type which is apt to linger in the memory of those who heard it last night.

Harling as Conductor Succeeds. Harling as Conductor Succeeds.

That W. Franke Harling is a good director as well as a composer of note was demonstrated last night. He conducted the orchestra with the hand of one entirely familiar with the score, as he well might be, and the musicians responded to his enthusiasm with their best efforts.

The orchestration of the opera is meritorious and original in themes Unlike many new operas, it was not reminiscent of the old ones, and it had a refreshing note of novelty in many

In the murder duet, if such it might be called, in the last part of the opera her dramatic soprano, with which she won renown in Metropolitan roles, was used to good advantage and her acting was of a high order. One naturally wondered if Mary Garden could have got more out of the role than did Miss Peralta with her genlus for interpretation of such characters, and the fair answer is that Miss Peralta adorned the part and made as much of it as possible.

GOVERNMENT RIGHT IS DENIED BY COURT

Siddons Voices View in Refusing Evidence to Substan-J. R. Brewer. tiate Oil Defense Claim.

DECLARED AS TENDING TO OBSTRUCT JUSTICE

Witnesses Are Heard, Including Wright on Making of McMullin Affidavit.

By NORMAN W. BAXTER.

The lawful right of the Government to shadow an "unsuspected or unsuspecting jury" was challenged yesterday by Justice Frederick L. Siddons in blocking the effort of counsel for the respondents in the contempt trial of Harry F. Sinclair, W. J. Burns and three others to show by the testimony of witnesses that the Government has for years engaged in such a practice.

Justice Siddons said in his ruling sustaining the objection of Maj. Peyton Gordon, United States district attorney to this line of testimony that he "would The lawful right of the Government

Gordon, United States district attorney, to this line of testimony that he "would be no less shocked if it were a fact and could be established that without rhyme or reason, except the claimed right, that the department might so trespass upon the domain of the judicial branch of the Government."

The court, in addition, amplified a previous expression by declaring that "in its opinion the surveillance, the shadowing, the espionage of an unsuspected—and again I use a phrase, "unsuspecting jury"—impaneled and engaged in trying a criminal case in a United States court, is what tends to be an obstruction of justice and, therefore, a contempt of court."

Simply Offer Evidence.

As a result of this ruling the attorneys for the respondents were unable to do more than proffer the evidence of four former agents of the Department of Justice who were called as witnesses and note their exceptions to the refusal of Justice Siddons to permit them to testify. The proffers, however, revealed that all of the witnesses, while employed by the Department of Justice, had on many occasions shadowed "unsuspected Juries" and in the language of Joseph Morgan, of counsel for the Burns agency, had "taken them up in the morning and put them to bed at night." Morgan made specific mention of the Phillips war fraud case in this district in which he said that the jury, attorneys and witnesses had been shadowed and the Government agents entered the courtroom in order to hold their surveillance.

The proffer of eighteen such witnesses was made by Judge Daniel Thew Wright, counsel for Henry Mason Day, without their actual appearance. Judge Wright said that in view of the court's ruling he would make the proffer and take his exception prior to the actual placing of the witnesses on the stand.

dence for what purpose? For the purpose of allowing the respondents here to show that for a period of time, 20 or 25 years, the Department of Justice has been doing the sort of thing that this court at least has undertaken to declare constitutes an obstruction of justice or tends to obstruct justice and is, therefore, a contempt of court.

"If am right about it, the admission of this evidence is simply to admit evidence to show that it is not an obstruction of Justice. And why? Because the Department of Justice has been doing the same thing over a period of 20 or 25 years. I do not know what other men or how ot

The jury heard from Mr. Archer a story of rivalry and keen competition in the illicit whisky traffic in St. Mary's county, in which Brewer was described by Archer as "having a big

Archer told the jury "Brewer was formerly an informer for the prohibition unit and often turned in information which led to raids on his competitors in the bootleg traffic."

Brewer often had been a visitor at the Gundlach home until last July. Archer told the jury, when Brewer was said to have led a raid to the Gundlach farm in the absence of the farmer and stopped a home brewing operation being carried on by Mrs. Gundlach.

Surveyor Presents Map.

Victor E. Warthen, surveyor, presented a map of the property where the shooting took place. Mr. Woodcock objected to the map because certain notes made by the surveyor did not concern the contour of the property. He declared the surveyor had made notations marking the spots where the "action" took place, although the witness had not been present at the shooting. "There was another map made the day following the shooting and which was presented at the inquest, and I want that map," Mr. Woodcock told the Court.

When Mr. Woodcock turned to the court and said: "Your Honor, I hold that the State is deliberately designing to withhold facts from the court by presenting this map." Mr. Dorsey leaped to his feet and declared:

"I consider Mr. Woodcock's remarks a direct reflection upon myself and upon the State."

The court ordered the objectionable map notation erased.

Mr. Woodcock made repeated objections when Mrs. Fannie Gundlach, widow of the slain farmer took the stand and identified the clothes that her husband was wearing when he was fatally shot.'

The court finally ruled that the clothes had not been properly identified and refused their admission as evidence.

British Heir Appointed Head of Merchant Navy

London, Feb. 13 (A.P.). - The his already numerous titles, King George having asked him to assume the title of "Master of the Merchant Navy and Fishing Fleet."

The London Gazette, official news paper, tomorrow will make the fol-lowing announcement:

"His Majesty has been for some time considering what steps can be taken to bring the merchant navy and fishing fleet into line with other great services of the empire by having as titular head some member of the royal family. With this end in view and in recognition of the splendid services which the merchant navy and fishing fleet have rendered to the empire for many centuries both in peace and in war, His Majesty, after taking ministerial advice, has asked the Prince of Wales to assume the title of Master of the Merchant Navy and Fishing Fleet."

It was explained that the change in no way entails the introduction of military status into the merchant navy and fishing fleet.

STATE BARS GUILTY PLEA FOR HICKMAN IN THOMS MURDER

Fox Offers to Plead in Return for Life Imprisonment Sentence.

LONG. TEDIOUS TRIAL DECLARED PROSPECT

Hunt's Attorney Wants to Put Boy at Mercy of Court.

Los Angeles, Feb. 13 (A.P.) .- An offer made by William Edward Hickman through his attorneys to plead guilty to the murder of C. Ivy Thoms, a drug-gist, who was killed during an attempted holdup, was rejected tonight by District Attorney Asa Keyes.

Rrams from Henderson, Ky.; Freeport, Ill., and Gulfport, Fla., saying youths answering descriptions of Burns and Baxter were held in those cities and requesting further information concerning the escaped prisoners.

Meanwhile, scores of searchers continued to scour the country near here seeking a clew as to the fate of the deputies, John P. Grove and Wallace McClure.

Youth Held at Henderson.

At Henderson police arrested a young man they declared fitted the description of Burns and he was held pending identification by Indiana authorities that a suit of blood-stained overalls had been found under the rear seat of Deputs Grove's automobic left there Tuesday by Baxter and Burns. The youths visited a foster-mother of Burns dentification by Indiana authorities the same afternoon, Chief of Police Wills said today, but he refused to reveal the hame of the woman. She said the hame of the woman. She said that time of the visit, Chief Wills said.

Plea Would Save Money.

"A plea of guilty by Hunt will save the county about $1,000 a day," the deputy declared, "and will expedite matters considerably." He added that the complicity in the holdup-murder would be settled when and if Huntentered such a plea.

District Attorney Asa Keyes declared Hickman, who last week was declared sane by a superior court jury in connection with the slaying of Marian Parker, might be convicted and harged for the Thoms murder before his appeal from the Parker case verdict was returned. Keyes pointed out that Hickman had entered two pleas in the Thoms case, those of "not guilty" and "not guilty by reason of insanity." The jury thus will decide, Keyes said, both his sanity and his guilt if he is found sane;

Spain Decrees Armor For Horses in Bull Ring

(Special Cable Dispatch.) Madrid, Feb. 13. — Despite pro-tests, both from fans and bull fighters, a royal decree issued today makes armor for horses used in bull rings obligatory.

The exact kind of protective covering to be used on the poor nags, which usually are ripped to pieces during a big afternoon in the Plaza Del Toro, is left to the discretion of the fighters. Having witnessed tests of various kinds of armor, influential fans think the decree will not deny them their daily quota of blood, regardless. The decree applies only to the big-time bull rings of Madrid, Seville, Bilbao, Saragossa, Barcelona, Barcelometa and Vista-

Wants to Plead Hunt Guilty.

The prosecution said it took the stand that Hickman was a sane and master criminal and that as such he should receive the full penalty of the law.

A. Gray Gilmer, attorney for Hunt, said tonight he desired to plead his client guilty, providing he can be assured that he can place before the court and for future records evidence of militgating circumstances in the boy's favor.

Both Hickman and Hunt have confessed taking part in the holdup on Christmas Eve, 1926, which resulted in the death of Thoms.

Clifford Thoms, deputy district attorney assigned to prosecute the joint murder trial of the two youths, conferred with A. Gray Gilmer, Hunt's counsel.

Rebel Leader About 15 Miles Northwest of Matagalpa, Marines Believe.

Nicaraguan rebel leader, is fleeing to Honduras is unfounded.

Sandino, who has been operating in Neuva Segovia, a northern department of Niciragua, for the past six months, two weeks ago slipped southeast fro his former stronghold of El Chipote to San Rafael del Norte. He remained there a few days and appeared at several coffee plantations in the vicinity of the city of Matagalpa.

The exact whereabouts of the rebel leader are not known, but it is felt here that he probably is from 12 to 15 miles northwest of Matagalpa in a mountainguis region. The military authorities believe that as long as he has the almost inaccessible region to his rear, where he can retreat swiftly, it will be most difficult to capture him, unless by surprise.

The rainy season is approaching, making transportation of troops and supplies almost impossible and consequently the clearing up of the northern districts of the Sandino bands is expected to be a slow procedure.

Navy building program, Secretary Wilbur declared here tonight that they were unwittingly sponsoring a movement to make the Navy fight blind folded.

He ridiculed these who attacked the cost of the program, asserting that the nine-year building program of $740,-000,000 is $10,000,000 less than the candy bill in the United States in 1925. He also said that in 1925 women spent 31,825,000,000 ocosmetics, and said that if the attacks upon the Navy were based solely upon economic grounds, it may be deferentially suggested that there are times when gunpowder is more valuable than face powder.

"Speaking broadly," the Secretary told the Indianapolis Association of Credit Men, "it may be said that the ships planned in this building program constitute the eyes of the fleet. Those who are ignorantly attacking this program with a view of restraining the beligerency of this Nation do not perhaps realize that they are trying to put us in a position where, in a sense, our salior men will have to fight bilind-folded."

Developing Treaty Navy.

The Navy building program now receiving consideration by the House committee on naval affairs represents an orderly step in the development of a treaty Navy, the Secretary said.

"It would seem that in view of the recent World War and in view of the recent World War and in view of the recent World War and in view of the interest of peace and harmony and disarmament these outpourings might well be overlooked, but the naval committee of the House is being bombarded with telegrams, correspondence and resolutions expressing horror at the building program approved by the Navy Department and by the President of the United States. It should be noted that our building program is in a large measure a replacement program."

"Thousands of Republican men and women in Ohlo are rejoicing today over the announcement from Washington this morning that they are to have an opportunity to express their preference for Herbert Hoover for President in the Republican presidential primaries in April. It was an appropriate occasion, the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincolm—a good omen.

Indianapolis, Feb. 18 (A.P.).—Assailing the critics of the administration's Navy building program. Secretary Wilbur declared here tonight that they were unwittingly sponsoring a movement to make the Navy fight blindfolded.

He ridiculed those who attacked the cost of the program, asserting that the mine-year building program of $740,000,000 is $10,000,000 less than the candy bill in the United States in 1925. He also said that in 1925 women spent $1,325,000,000 on cosmetics, and said that if the attacks upon the Navarantee of the ridical specific of the state that Mr. Hoover of his decision was made I have had long distance telephone calls and telegrams from Republicans in many sections of Ohio stating that they are cardy to place Hoover-pledged candidates for delegates and alternates in a strong Hoover oganization in each district."

I asked Thad Brown about these reports. He said when he was studying law he took a clerical job with an antiprohibition organization, but had nothing to do with the shaping of the organization's policies. Other men besides Walter Brown have been attorned for brewery interests, it was added. From the Willis camp came further reports that both Walter Brown and Thad Brown have been off the regular Republican reservation so often that their management of the Hoover campaign necessarily implies a fight against the regular Republicanism of the Buckey State.

Waiter Brown, they add, was a Bull Mooser in 1912 and helped defeat Tatt, though he now becomes ailied with the young Tatts in Cincinnati, in support young Tafts in Cincinnati, in support of Hoover.

Because of party irregularities, the Willis men say, the present Hoover managers have incurred the emnity of the regulars to such an extent that Walter Brown has, with one exception, been beaten decisively whenever he had attempted to enter the political arena in Ohio. Anyway, the Willis supporters say, there will be as much, if not more, animosity in regular Republican circles to Hoover's campaign managers than to Hoover himself.

From the Willis side of the picture, one might well assume that the Secretary of Commerce has, indeed, taken his political life in his hands in coming into the primary battle.

"The fundamental reason that the present program is large is that we have not the contended during the period in which we hope for a supplemental treaty limiting armament of the quantity needed during the period in which we hope for a supplemental treaty limiting armament of this type of ship. We did not again desire to scrap new ships. We proposed to wait until the limit was faced and repeating what we did in the Washington agreement—agree upon a limit and scrap down to that limit.

"One of the reasons for proposing this proposing this proposing and this time is because we want to get pointillaries before we are confronted with propoleme of replacement of battleships and capitaships in accordance with the terms of the Washington treaty for the limits with the terms of the Washington treaty for the limitation of naval armaments."

He must know by this time that Senator Willis' candidacy is no less genuine than his own—that it is a pulsing, throbbing movement, that is hourly gaining force throughout the Nation. Hoover Candidacy Comment

Evening Sun—It is to be borne in mind that Mr. Hoover's letter announcing his candidacy is addressed to the chairman of the Ohio Hoover for President Club and is therefore intended primarily for reading in Ohio. When in Rome a candidate should address himself to the Romans, and when in the home of the Antisaloon League and the national center of corruption he should, doubtless, modify his utterances accordingly. accordingly.

LOS ANGELES.

Times—Mr. Hoover is a man whose accomplishments can only be estimated in terms of progress and advancement for the whole people. Modern civilization has not developed a greater genius for constructive thought. As an organizer of business, industry and commerce, as a student and stabilizer of national and international economics, Mr. Hoover occupies an unique place. In a survey of the Republican papers in southern California it is found that the sentiment for Hoover is almost unanimous.

MEW YORK.

Herald-Tribune—This newspaper is for a continuation of the Coolidge policies. Obviously the best person to carry them on is the President. But he does not wish to continue in office, and the emergency which might appeal to him as creating a patriotic duty to remain in the White House may not arise.

Therefore we welcome the candidacy.

Evening Tribune—The whoop hurrah of the Hoover organizers is to be ex-pected. It is certainly not an unformidable candidacy that is put sorward for the Secretary. But it has to be represented as decidedly formidable than cold analysis would show it to be. Enthusiasm alone would guarantee that. Enthusiasm plus the necessities of the situation guarantee it

The case to which Representative Gallivan had reference was tried in Police Court December 20 last. The defendants were Robert S. Williams and Fred Thorpe, who were arrested August 12 in the 1700 block of Seventeenth street northwest on charges of sale and possession of liquor.

Fifty pints of alleged gin and a quantity of bottling equipment were part of the evidence presented against the two men. When the jury came back after five minutes with a verdict of not guilty, Judge Schuldt was so that astonished that he asked the foreman to repeat the verdict. After Schuldt had assured himself that he had heard aright, he discharged the jury from further service.

The jury, which had served only two days, was composed of the following: Betty M. Hoffman, Merrel A. Coe, John M. Redman, John F. Brady, John E. Everett, Samuel Freedman, M. S. Hines, Earl Garretson, Carlton F. Howell, Henry A. La Clair, Clarence A. Marshall and Theodore M. Wilson.

REPUBLICAN ECONOMY ASSAILED BY DEMOCRATS

Garner Predicts Tax Bill With Tariff Rider Will Be Sent to Coolidge.

BYRNS GIVES WARNING

omy" claims of the Coolidge adminis-tration and prediction that there will be no tax legislation adopted at this session of Congress were made in the House yesterday by Democratic members. Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, ranking minority member of the appropriations committee, attacked the recent financial meeting, and Representative Garner, of Texas, ranking Democrat on the ways and means committe, discussed the tax situation.

Garner declared that if and when the tax reduction bill is brought up on the Senate floor Democratic members of that body will seek to attach a tariff rider to the measure. The Democrats, aided by the Independent Republicans, would succeed in this, and when the bill comes back to the House the Democrats and Western Republicans can put it through that body, he predicted.

can put it through that body, he predicted.

When the measure goes to the White House, however, with the tariff rider, it will be vetoed, he said, and thus there will be no tax legislation. He declared that the bill is now being held up because an amendment put through by the Democrats would increase the taxes on corporations.

Representative Byrns declared that "it is about time the people were becoming aroused to the fact that despite the persistent and misleading propaganda of the past years there has been no reduction of governmental expenditures. On the contrary, there has been a heavy increase which can not be justified on the plea that it was "constructive economy."

Representative Madden, chairman of the appropriations committee, warned the House against passing measures carrying excessive appropriations.

LINDBERGH SAFE AT HOME.

Thousands of apprehensive inquiries were made at newspaper offices throughout the country yesterday afternoon in regard to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. His delay in arriving at St. Louis gave rise to intense anxiety as the collinutes were succeeded by hours. No other subject was discussed in newspaper offices. The lack of specific news from the moment Lindbergh left Havana left room for dreadful Surmise. In the back of many minds is the dark fear that this incomparable youth may fall from the skies, and when his usually puncstual itinerary is broken by adverse conditions this haunting thought thrusts itself forward Millions and millions in many nations see in Lindbergh the departed glory of their own fives. His fall would be to them like the annihilation of their own hopes and soaring aspirations.

But Lindbergh arrived safely, three hours Jate. He was greeted with frenzied welcome. The Spirit of St. Louis, like a homing pigeon, flew on unwearied wing, completing a series of flights which have extended the horizon of man's capabilities and made all human hearts beat together. In ancient times, for feats less glorious, daring youths became demigods and gods, and furnished examples which inspired all humanity toward noble and heroic undertakings,

The cleansing of the spirit of young men and women, brought about by the achievements and personality of Col. Lindbergh, is of incalculable value, here and in every country. Men take a new grip upon life when they see what he is and what he has done. He is a precious gift to this country and to mankind. The Nation breathes proudly and contentedly as he comes

FOOLISH FLYING.

Gene Shank, young St. Paul law student, looped the loop 515 successive times in an airplane early in the month, establishing thereby a new "world's record." Lyle Thro, Minneapolis commercial pilot, a week later jumped into the competition with his 90-horsepower class B plane and made a new record with 543 successive loops. On the same day, "Speed" Holman, also of Minneapolis, chief pilot of the Northwest Airways, took the 200-horsepower plane with which he won the cross-country air derby last year, and looped the loop 1,093 consecutive times without breaking his neck.

It is to be presumed that other young fliers now will enter the competition, putting their ships through contortions for the sake of establishing a new worthless record. Looping the loop has no legitimate justification. In wartime maneuvers there are times when the safety of a pilot may depend upon his ability to turn a somersault, but in commercial flying it is never needed.

Looping the loop hundreds of consecutive times places a tremendous strain upon both pilot and ship. If the competition continues there will be fatalities, and every accident reacts unfavorably upon the development of aviation. Aeronautic organizations should not lend themselves to these foolish exhibitions.

CURING A COLD.

Cornell University now discloses that it, too, has joined the popular search for a cause and cure of the common cold. For over a year the staff of its medical college has been treating a selected group of students to twice-a-week baths in the ultra-violet rays of a mercury vapor lamp. This group, it is said, shows a decrease of 50 per cent, as compared with an untreated group, in both the number and severity of colds.

The experiments were started to test a theory that, since people rarely suffer from colds in summer, sunlight has something to do with their immunity. The ultra-violet rays, like sunlight, change the bactericidal power of the blood, increasing its resistance to the germs that cause colds. They also, it has been found, improve the condition of the skin which protects the delicate tissues of the body from bacteria always seeking entrance. Thus the door is closed to persons who have been treated to the rays of the mercury vapor lamps, and if the bacteria do succeed in forcing an entrance, the blood itself is better equipped to destroy the intruders.

The physicians interested in the experiment say that the lesson to be learned therefrom is that people must take greater advantage of sunshine, nature's ultra-violet store-Yet stranger things than this may follow if the theory is found to be sound. Possibly ultra-violet ray service stations may come to be part of civilization. Not every one can get as much sunlight as he needs, but if he could drop into such a service station for a few minutes twice a week, the need would not be so pressing.

CONTROL OF TRAINS.

Since 1925 the Chicago & North Western Railroad has been installing an automatic train-control system between Chicago and Omaha. It has just announced that the system will be completed May 1. The 500-mile stretch is the longest system of automatic train control in the world, and represents an investment of some $3,000,000. This particular system is activated by an electric current that flows down one track and up the other. The current is picked up by coils on the locomotives, located in front of the engine wheels about 6 inches above the tracks. At danger signals, or when another train is operating in the same block, the automatic control begins, a whistle starts blowing, and if the engineer does not act, the control automatically cuts the speed of the train to 20 miles an hour, when a second whistle of a different tone is sounded. If the engineer does not reduce his speed further, the full control takes effect and stops the train.

The already fine safety record of American railways will be bettered as the automatic train-control systems become more general. The block system has been satisfactory except for the fact that its operation depends upon the fallible human element. If an engineer is stricken ill or dead while on duty without the knowledge of the fireman, accidents are apt to occur. During a storm the signals are sometimes obscured. With the automatic system safety is made more certain.

MUSICAL CULTURE.

The first Damrosch radio program designed for reception in schools as an educational adjunct has met with approval of school officials here, in New York and in Baltimore. The second program will be transmitted this week, when it is proposed to have a large number of schools equipped with receiving Educational broadcasting of music has long been of interest to Dr. Damrosch, director of the New York Symphony Orchestra. His Saturday evening concerts of last season were along such general lines. The present effort constitutes an extension of them. The plan is not to broadcast concerts for entertainment alone. Music is an art, and its enjoyment depends largely upon knowledge of what music is, how it is written and what thoughts it attempts to convey. Dr. Damrosch explains music as it is played. With the aid of a piano he interprets different movements and themes before the complete piece is played by the orchestra, thus building up in his invisible audience a realization that music does not just happen, but that it follows certain well defined forms.

There is need for work of this sort at a time when public interest has turned to lower forms of musical expression. With machines for reproducing music in practically every home, America, to a greater or less degree, has turned away from the masters and has come o bow down before the popular song-smith whose product catches the fancy for the moment, but is composed of such flimsy substance as to wilt away swiftly into oblivion The loss is America's. The individual who has not learned to love great music has missed one of the most satisfying experiences of life.

THE OPERA FESTIVAL.

The international opera festival in Washington writes a new page in the music history of the Nation. Never before have the representatives of foreign nations joined hands with Americans in such an enterprise, which has been described as an "alliance not of power of arms or commerce, but of the greater power of friendship.'

The Ambassadors of Great Britain, Italy, France, Belgium and Germany are members of the international sponsorship committee, while the American members are notable in public and private life, whose interest in the cultural development of the Nation has been sustained and helpful. The roster of the artists who are singing in the festival performances includes the names of many of the stars of grand opera, Established masterpieces will share public interest with new works.

It is not by accident that the international festival opened with an all-American night, composer, artists and conductor. Recognition of the worth of American musical genius has been the guiding principle behind the foundation and development of the Washington National Opera, and American art has its place in the festival with that of other nations. Washington should take a page from the books of other cities and make the international festival an annual event, which will attract wide attention and bring to the city visitors from all over the world.

THE UNEARTHMENT OF UR.

For several years the University of Pennsylvania, together with the British Museum, has been at work unearthing Ur of the Chaldees. Incidentally the size and importance of the city has disclosed that when Abraham went out from Ur the patriarch turned his back upon a great metropolis, in which doubtless he had suffered rebuffs and worse in his efforts to preach the doctrine of one God. The type of religion disclosed in the recently announced uncovering of the burial chambers of Queen Shub-ad tends to confirm what was already believed. The burial of a sovereign was at tended with the sacrifice or burial alive of many persons and also of animals. It was made an occasion for vast pomp and ceremony, as the vast assortment of funeral articles at test. The amazing quantity and variety and value of this late loot from an ancient tomb gives the discovery of the place of interment of the Chaldean queen an importance to the archeologist equal to that of the uncover ing of the tomb of Tutankhamen in Egypt.

The finds at Ur show that the arches which are a part of the tomb construction are examples in the history of mankind. Doorways crowned with true arches of baked brick, and chambers vaulted with arches, of which a few of the rings remain, show that the arch was as commonly used then as at any later period in history. Yet the archeologists until now have been giving to a drain at Nippur, in the third millennium B. C., credit for showing the earliest known arch.

A matter of practical interest beyond that of the antiquity of the arch as a part of architectural form is the fact that from that far day of Ur, down to the present time, no feasible method has been found for laying, other than by hand, the burnt brick, which from that day to this, has been a popular form of building material. The bricklayers' unions of the ages successfully fended off the inventor from interfering with their craft.

MACAULAY'S LETTERS.

When, some 50 years ago, Sir George Otto Trevelyan brought out his delightful biography of his uncle, under the title of "The Life and Letters of Lord Macaulay," he, of course, exercised his judgment, and left several of the letters unpublished. Now, Macaulay had one intimate friend outside his own family circle, and with this friend, Thomas Flower Ellis, he maintained a steady correspondence during 30 years. The letters which Macaulay sent Ellis, in number about 250, have recently been presented, in the original manuscript, by the grandson of Ellis to the library of Trinity College, Cambridge, and constitute a notable gift.

With many of these letters readers of Trevelyan are already acquainted, and these possess their own interest, for they deal with great events-the passing of the reform bill in 1831, the administrative changes on which Macaulay was engaged in India, the elections he contested, the publication of his Lays and Speeches; the writing of his History; but it is the unpublished letters which speak so intimately from the written page, that will, for some time to come, engage and receive most attention. Their allusions to the ordinary happenings of life, to dinners, inns, vacations, and contemporary writers and publishers, have a peculiarly fresh and stimulating flavor despite the lapse of the years. Here, for example, is a reference to Carlyle, written from Clifton in 1851, which is not without humor and sarcasm:

wonder at his eccentric opinions and style. It is all stomach. I shall set him to rights. He will go away quite a dif-ferent person." If he goes away writing commonsense in good English, I shall declare myself a convert to hydropathy.

There is an invitation to dinner couched in passable Latin hexometers; some savagely humorous verses on Henry Vizetelly, who had pirated Macaulay's speeches and had subsequently attempted to hang himself on account of financial difficulties; and a most charming 'moral song, fit for Dr. Watts' collection," addressed to little Alice Trevelyan on "the awful end of poor Sardanapalus!"

There is also a most glorious translation, in verses alternately rhymed, of the great passage from the fourth Georgic, in which Virgil tells the story of Orpheus and his half-regained Eurydice. Best of all, perhaps, there is a ballad of 138 lines, similar in metrical form to "Ivry" and the "Armada," on the subject of "Bosworth Field." That is a magnificent theme, and for the publication of that poem at least there will be an insistent demand until the general wish is gratified. Trinity College, Cambridge, is to be congratulated on this gift of the manuscript of one of its most distinguished Fellows.

RUBBER RECOILS.

British restriction of rubber exports has flared back. A slump in its price several days ago, caused by announcement of a governmental inquiry into the effects and operation of the restrictions on rubber export, cost the market considerably more than $5,000,000. At the same time prices on the New York exchange, influenced by the news from England, declined more than 3 cents a pound, and contracts for the future delivery of rubber worth more than another $5,000,000 changed hands.

Harvey Firestone, in Florida, says that America's determination to produce her own rubber "has gone far to break the British grip," and the appointment of the British investigating committee is "a great moral victory for America."

The English position has become far from enviable. Despite whatever conclusions the investigating committee may draw, and despite the remedies or new schemes put into effect the damage has been done. The United States is actively at work preparing to produce its own rubber. These operations can not be stopped now, no matter what England does. The time to have investigated the effect of rubber restriction was before it was put into

CHESS AMENITIES.

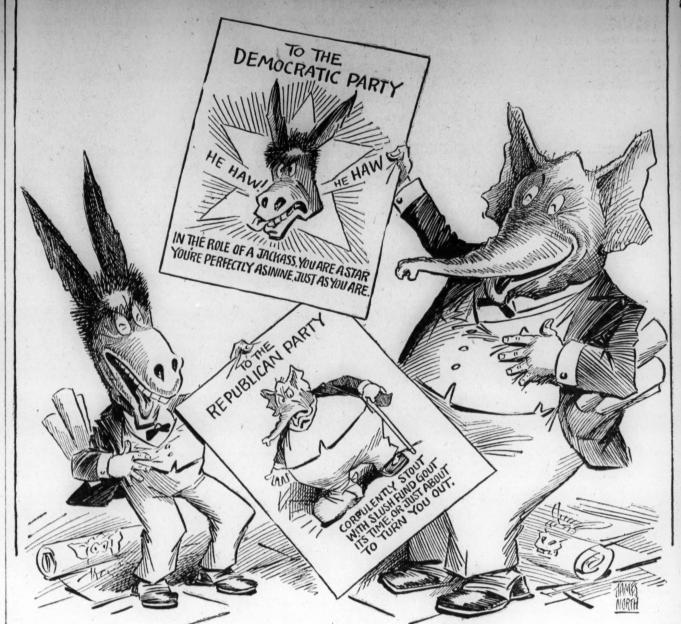

Alexander Alekhine's words on the occasion of a dinner to celebrate his home-coming, after having won the world's chess championship from Jose R. Capablanca, were most unsportsmanlike. One can overlook the statement: "I am glad I beat Capablanca," and further phrase: "I am even happier to have beaten the dea that Capablanca was unbeatable." But Alekhine then added: "Capablanca should never have been champion, for he has no passion for chess and doesn't even like it as a game." Such words are not worthy of the gentleman who holds for the moment the international crown of chessdom Capablanca may have anticipated such criticism, for last week, upon his return to the United States, he said: "It is ridiculous to suppose that I prefer any other game to chess. I consider chess so far superior that there is no comparison." Yet had he made no such statement, even those whose interest in chess is only of the most casual nature must realize that Capablanca, to have occupied the position he held for so many years, must have had more than ordinary interest in, and devotion to, the game.

A man can not do anything well in which he has little interest. Even Alekhine must admit that Capablanca plays chess well. For years he was undefeated. Through campaign after campaign, and tournament after tournament. he met and vanquished the most powerful opposition that could be mustered. He is young man, and the future may make Alekhine's fling ridiculous by bringing about his defeat at the hands of Capablanca.

The movies are true to life now, except that the innocent little thing never gets a wrong number when she phones for help.

The critic's aggressive tone, when he praises modern art, seems to indicate that he expects

Climbing

=By ROBERT QUILLEN=

HE fellow who is just starting in at the bottom and bending his back to tasks that are within the reach of his abilities is prone to think his lot hard. He looks above to the dizzy heights attained by others and because their tasks are of a different nature assumes that success brings surcease from labor. When he thinks of the great way measure provides that one French film he has to climb in order to reach that exalted company he is a little shall be shown for every nine imported, discouraged and perhaps a little bitter.

The trouble with him is that he has a wrong conception of success. There is no place in the world for a failure. One must earn his salt or die. This is a hard doctrine, but it is very true and there is no way to avoid it.

The one who shovels sand for a daily wage is selling his brawn to ciety in exchange for the right to live. If he shovels sand well, he may eat. To use the phrase that typifies America, he must make good. If he makes good at his humble task, greater ones will offer. And as long as he continues to make good in each task assigned him the doors of success will remain open.

This need of making good follows men into every walk of life. There is no escaping it. If the sand shoveler must make good in order to keep his humble job, so must the skilled mechanic, the artisan, the salesman, the superintendent, the very president himself.

Success does not bring ease. As one climbs, greater responsibilities are thrust upon him and the world demands of him more and better While he continues to make good his reward is sure. Detroit Free Press: Michigan may him fail and the world unhesitatingly tosses him into the discard, not have its presidential preference though he be a king.

INSTITUTE MEN READY FOR ANNUAL BANQUET

600 Tables So Far Reserved for Saturday's Event; Williams Guest.

RAZOR EARNINGS GROW

By F. W. PATTERSON.

By F. W. PATTERSON.

Everything is in readiness for the twenty-fourth annual banquet of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, Saturday night in the large ballroom of the Willard, according to I. J. Roberts, Riggs National Bank, chapter president.

Unlike many of the social events of the banking year which are primarily for the active chapter members, the annual banquet has been for many years the outstanding event of the lighter side of the financial life of Washington, and is a time when senior bank, officers, directors and stockholders join with the junior bankers in a night of joilification. Many of the banks make a family party out of the event and officers and their wives with members of the auxiliary staff of the institution are together for the evening.

Some of the banks provide the tickets for the entire staff, others award tickets to members of the staff who are enrolled in the educational courses of the chapter school, but whatever the arrangements all banks are represented in the gathering. This being so, it is not surprising that more than 600 reservations are now in hand, and before the close of the time for making reservations it is certain that all records for attendance will be broken. In ords for attendance will be broken. In this connection it will be most helpful to the seating committee if those who to the seating committee if those who have not sent in their request for places at the tables do so at once.

President Williams Guest.

P. R. Williams, president of the American Institute of Banking, of the Bank of Italy National Trust & Savings Association of Los Angeles, will be one of the honor guests of the evening, word having been received yesterday by T. Hunton Letth, chairman of the banquet committee, that he will arrive in Washington on Friday. Governmet officials and officers from out of town chapters will be among the guests.

mnet officials and officers from out of town chapters will be among the guests.

Frank J. Hogan, general counsel of the District Bankers Association, who will be the toastmaster, has let it be known that speeches will be cut to the minimum. Thomas W. Brahany, who will be master of ceremonies, promises that there will be action when the entertainment program gets under way, so that there will be ample time left after the banquet to permit of several hours of dancing.

Those in charge of the banquet arrangements are: T. Hunton Leith, Security Savings, and Commercial Bank, chairman; James A. Soper, Lincoln National Bank, vice chairman: Robert H. Lacey, Columbia National Bank, treasurer; Miss Lois A. White, Federal-American National Bank, secretary.

Reserve Bank Earnings Less.

Gross earnings of the Federal Reserve banks in 1927, at $43,024,000, were $4,575,000 below the preceding year, according to the Federal Reserve Bulletin issued yesterday. These earnings were derived chiefly as interest and discount on bills and securities, and the decline reflected both lower average rates of return in 1927 on all classes of holdings and also decline in the average volume of bills and securities.

Intercity Duckpin Contest.

The plans of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, for an interrity duckpin contest have been perfected and the first of these matches will be played with the Baltimore Chapter. The contest will consist of a series of ten games, five to be rolled on February 25, in Washington, with the other five to be contested on March 10 in Baltimore. The total pin fall for the ten games will decide the winner.

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. long has been recognized as the leader among tire manufacturers, and now among tire manufacturers, and now claims to be the largest rubber enterprise in the world. In two recent years—1932 and 1928—it has taken precedence over its chief competitor in total sales volume. The tire output continues the dominant feature of the business.

Under the previous capital set-up, the chance of dividends on the common seemed remote, but a new agreement seemed remote, but a new agreement has been worked out designed to im-prove the position of the junior issue. Razor Earnings Show Gain.

The financial statement of the Gillette Safety Razor Co. for the year ended December 31, 1927, shows earnings of $7.29 a share on 2,000,000 shares of stock, against 6.66 a share in 1926. Net earnings after all charges, including taxes and depreciation, were $14,-580,902. Total profit from operations in 1927 was $16,674,559. Net deductions from income amounted to $312,096 and taxes $1,781,561, leaving net available for dividends of $41,4580,902.

Before the books were closed for 1927 the directors voted to charge off the item "patents, $3,459,500." and while business conditions in America were somewhat varied the foreign business showed steady growth and the company's patents of the world was marked by improvement.

New York, Feb. 13 (A.P.).—Net earnings of the Air Reduction Co., Inc., for 1927, after charges, amounted to $2, 412,596, equivalent to $1).74 a share or the 224,597 shares of common stock then outstanding. This compares with net earnings in 1926 of $2,262,191, or $10.83 a share on 208,855 shares of common outstanding at the end of 1926.

Statistics compiled by the Copper & Brass Research Association in connection with its annual survey of the building industry place the total value of buildings in the United States at $180,370,000,000. Then billions will be expended for construction in 1928, the association predicts, against $9,775,000,000 last year. More than half the total, or $92,170,000,000, is credited to residential property, with commercial buildings second, with a value of $29,220,000,000.

Properties owned by Federal Water Service Corporation as of January 26, 1928, show gross revenues of $10,762,-503 for the year ended November 30, 1927. Net income was $5,557,343. Aft-er interest charges there remained $1,-168,303 for preferred stock dividends.

Harold Bell Wright Gaining: Throng of Europe-Bound Notables Grows.

ial to The Washington Post. Special to The Washington Post.

Hollywood, Calif., Feb. 13.—Hollywood waits with acute interest for the arrival here Friday of a mission composed of executive heads of, the First National Corporation. The recent affiliation of F. B. O. with the Pathe Exchange and the coloring lent to the stories of William Fox, jr., reaching out toward First National through negotiations for the Finkelstein and Rubin theater chain, have plunged the film colony into a whirl of conjecture.

Richard A. Rowland, vice president, is head of the Eastern delegation from First National's executive offices, which is due here Friday to confer with the s due here Friday to confer with the ocal First National heads. According to the quasiauthoritative story circulated here, William Fox, jr., through his recent purchase of the Westco theater chain, already has acquired 28 per cent of the stock in First National and the Finkelstein and Rubin deal might en low Fox with control of First National.

Harold Bell Wright is reported rapidly improving from an attack of pneu-monia. The author is under treatment in a San Bernardino, Calif., sanitarium. Unless he suffers a relapse, Wright shortly will leave for his home in Tucon, Ariz., and resume writing.

Dr. Ludwig Berger, of Germany, has been pondering a return to Europe and Reginald Denny makes no secret that he is wavering toward thoughts of England. The plaint of the numerous Europe-bound movie notables is the same; they say they have not had a fair chance to do their talents justice among the restrictions imposed by the executive overloads in the Hollywood studios. Svend Gade, with Mrs. Gade, are Europe-bound, auctioning their home and furnishings. Vachislav Tourjansky, director, and his wife, Natalia Kovanko, actress, recently returned to Europe after a series of disappointments in films. Others recently departing were Mauritz Stiller, Swedish director, who brought Greta Garbo to this counters. Lyon Mourities. Dr. Ludwig Berger, of Germany, has the brought Greta Garbo to this country; Ivan Mousjikine, Russian, and Henry Victor, a Briton.

Bebe Daniels probably will be home from Hollywood Hospital by the end of the week, but will be laid up for three weeks by the injuries she sustained Saturday when she and James Hall were knocked off a moving truck by an over-hanging limb and buried in the midst of a ton of debris. Hall was around the studios today nursing a sprained right wrist and a taped left side where his ribs were knocked loose.

Policeman's Death Is Held Accidental

Investigating the death of Motorcycle Policeman James G. Helm, of the Twelfth Preenict, whose skull was fractured when his motorcycle collided with a truck driven by Lawrence Moreland at the intersection of Bladensburg road and Thirtith street northeast, February 6, a coroner's jury yesterday decided the accident was unavoidable and absolved the truck driver of responsibility.

Helm was fatally injured when he took up the pursuit of a suspected rum runner. His motorcycle crashed into the light truck driven by Moreland when the latter attempted to turn into Thirtieth street.

proper boast of the people of this metropolitan center. Year by year, the best efforts of the community are devoted to making this city more beautiful, to making life more worth living within its confines.

Architecture in public and private buildings portrays the increasing love of the beautiful that we all are gaining. Vistas down great boulevards show the increasing power and prosperity of the community. Nature is trained to outdo herself in charming parks.

But all the efforts devoted to making this city more beautiful will be futile if nothing can be seen and appreciated because covered with a pall of soot, hidden behind man-made clouds of smoke.

Nor is this all. For the smoke which hides the beauty from us, and obscures the sun, endangers the health of those for whom the beauty is built, making adult life more risky, hindering the development of our children and adds to the cost of living.

The beauty of cities need not perish in the cities' smoke. The health of city inhabitants need not be injured. Each one who uses an absolutely sootless and smokeless fuel contributes his share to the eliminating of the clouds of smoke that oppress us.

It is the privilege of Reading Anthracite, nature's finest fuel, to be a great factor in making a clean and healthy city.

MRS. GATLIN DENIES SHE KILLED FATHER; TRIAL BEGINS TODAY

Alleged Confession of Girl to Minister Chief Issue in Patricide Case.

VENIRE OF 200 CALLED FOR SELECTION OF JURY

Defense Is Prepared, It Is Said, to Combat Evangelist's Story.

Wentworth, N. C., Feb. 13 (A.P.).—
Whether a minister's story of an alleged confession by a penitent is competent evidence will be an issue in the courts of North Zarolina at the trial, beginning here tomorrow of Mrs. Alma Petty Gatlin, charged with slaying her father, Smith T. Petty.

Mrs. Gatlin pleaded not guilty today to an indictment which was largely based on the story of the Rev. Thomas F. Paidue, itherant evangelist, who claims the 20-year-old woman confessed her father's murder to him while attending one of his revival services last May in Reidsville, near here, where the Pettys live.

There is no law in North Carolina covering the relationship between a minister and a penitent, although in many States a minister's disclosure of a penitent's confession is not competent evidence, and while defense attorneys have indicated that they will seek to have the Rev. Mr. Pardue's story excluded as evidence, they have announced themselves as prepared for its admission.

Told Story to Authorities.

State's officers hold that the minister's story will be admitted because it is alleged to have disclosed facts which enter into the case. After the young woman is said to have confessed to Pardue, he went to authorities and related the story. An investigation was made and the body was found burled in the cellar of the Petty home at Reids-ville with ax wounds in the head as related by the minister.

Smith T. Petty, neighbors said, had been accustomed to leaving home and remaining away for varying lengths of time, so that when he disappeared in December, 1926, they thought nothing of it and believed him away on one of his usual absences. In February, 1927 his wife gave birth to a child which ided. The mother herself died in March.

Told Officers Where to Dig.

Told Officers Where to Dig.

Then, in May, Pardue claims, Mrs. Catilin voluntarily came to him at a revival service and confessed the murder of her father, at the same time disclosing where the body was buried. The minister did not say whether the young woman gave a motive for the killing, but he told officers where to dig and the body was uncovered.

On September 3, following the discovery of the body, Mrs. Gatlin was arrested and lodged in the Rockingham County Jall, where she has remained since. A grand jury, after hearing Pardue and other witnesses, indicted her on January 24, last, and the case was set for trial at the special session which began today.

After the arraignment today the court ordered a venire of 200 men from Rockingham County, from which the jury will be drawn if possible. If no jury is obtained in this county, a venire will be obtained from Stokes County.

FOUR IN AUTO HURT WHEN TIRE FLATTENS

Police Believe Driver Lost Control of Speeding Machine.

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 13 (A.P.). Four men on a trip from Scranton, Pa., to viorida were injured today when their automobile plunged through a bridge rail and fell to a railroad track near here. The extent of their injuries has not as yet been ascertained.

Papers found on one of them gave their names as Sam Greco, Clarence Crosson, Clifford Thomas and Carl Beam. They were brought to a local hospital unconscious.

Beam. They were brought to a local hospital unconscious.

The automobile; a new sedan, was wrecked. The accident occurred about 12 miles from Columbia and was reported by a farmer living nearby who notified authorities.

There was no evidence of skidding officers said, after examining the scene of the wreck, but one of the front tires of the machine was flat, and police believe the puncture, while going at high speed, caused the driver to lose control of the car.

Bankruptcy Petition Filed.

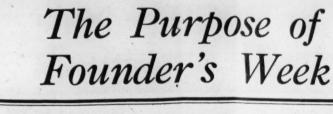

Sophie R. Cahill, trading as Sophie's Delicatessen. 3134 Fourteenth street northwest, filed a petition in voluntary perhaps and perial bankruptcy yesterday in Bankruptcy Court. Through Attorneys Burkart & Quinn the debts were listed at $6,030 and the assets at $2,385.

An Ideal Becomes a Reality!

When in 1861 Mr. W. B. Moses started on a constructive program of supplying the needs of the people in Furniture, Carpets and Draperies he hoped ultimately to build an institution which would provide the public with many other essential requirements to add to the effi-

It was not possible to progress as fast as he had planned and at the same time live up to his principle—"Quality and Value Worthy of the Public Confidence."

Therefore, it has fallen to the following generation to bring his Ideal to a Reality

Poorly Played Hoctor, G. U. Quarter-Miler, Central Seeks Amateur-Pro Harris, Confident, Sees No. Looms as Olympic Threat

Slightly Built Youth Has "Killing Finish," Victory Reveals.

By ARTHUR A. HEYWOOD.

HEY are predicting a great future up on the Hilltop for Eddie Hoctor, sophomore quarter-miler of the orgetown University Track Team, and orgetown Tollowers will tell you that will be a member of the United ates Olympic team this year. Hoctor's latest feat was the winning the Suburban quarter-mile in the Anthony games in Brooklyn, N. Y., turday night over a fast field, which ituded such outstanding quarter-ituded such outstanding quarter-included such outstanding quarter-milers as Joe Tierney and Jimmy Bur-gess, both of the New York A. C.; Vin-cent Lally, of the Columbus Council, Knights of Columbus, and Frank Burns, of the Boston A. C.

Moctor, who was back on the Georgetown oval yesterday, going through his daily paces, won the Suburban quarter with a tremendous drive on the home stretch. He let Jimmy Burgess set the pace and then Burns went into the lead, and with a lap to go he crep* up to second place, where he stayed until he reached the stretch.

nish. That Burgess can really run the uarter is attested by the fact that he as broken 50 flat many times. "He's filling the shoes of Jimmy turgess," Coach John D. O'Reilly said i Hoctor yesterday, "and you know turgess was the greatest quarter-miler deorgetown ever had. Hoctor has a illing finish, which is very surprising or his size. In his style of finish he mulates Burgess." With two years more of competition

Hoctor, Georgetown officials ex-sed the belief that he would rise heights equally as great as thos tained by Burgess.

T. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 13

(A.P.).—Blond and 'flue-eyed men of the north swept down upon the Olympic ice today and raced away with the major honors in the first day's events of the Olympic speedskating championships.

As it was, Farrel's time of 43 6-10 seconds was only two-tenths of a second behind the record-shattering pace of the two winners, Evensen and Thunberg, who were clocked in 43 4-10, breaking Jewtraw's old record by sixtenths of a second.

Farrell we unable to score in the 5,000-meter race afterward, but two Americans placed when Irving Jaffe, of New York, finished fourth, and Valentine Ballis, the team captain, sixth.

While a bilinding snowstorm swept the racing course, the skaters staged their battle against time.

Farrell, a heavy favorite in the shorter race among the Americans, was handicaped by lack of such fast pacing as Thunberg had when he wa paired for his heat with Larsen, one of the Norweglan aces. The American, drawn against Bertil Backhaan, of Finland, took the lead at the start and was forced to make his own pace all the way. forced to make his own pace all the

BIG SWEEP OUTRUNS HERODIAN AT NEW ORLEANS

Favorites Fail To Reward Backers

Polly Timber Pays $208, Beating Ham in First Race.

George De Mar Scores in Fifth; Landolt Hurt in Spill.

AIR GROUNDS, New Orleans, Feb. 13 (A.P.)—Mrs. J. L. Brannon's Polly Timber, with T. Murray up, won the first race, a half-mile event, and started the long-shot players off on the right foot. Polly Timber paid $203.52 for a $2 ticket, and there was loud applause when the price was announced. Ham was second and Dan Baum third.

nounced. Ham was second and Dan Baum third.
Geoandeo, the favorite, ran out on the stretch turn eliminating himself and burning up a lot of money by his actions. Polly Timber jumped away to the lead, saved ground and won in a drive by half a length. Ham took the place by a head from Dan Baum.

J. W. Lewis' Big Sweep sprung a surprise when he defeated W. R. Coe's Herodian in the Barker purse. I mile and 70 yards. Big Sweep was a speed marvel today and ran the distance in the fast time of 1:42 4-5, which is three-fifths of a second slower than the strack record. Herodian was second and Florian third.

Herodian did not have his usual early speed and was never able to get to the front, which is his big asset in winning faces. Herodian, when fit, jumps away to the lead and just gallops along in front, but today he trailed the leader ail the way. Big Sweep won in handy fashion by three lengths. Herodian took the place by a length and a half.

The winner of the fifth race turned up in George De Mar, with Colonel Board second and My Son third. Endor cut out the running, set a fast pace, but in the stretch Colonel Board came along and took the lead.

However, in the last sixteenth George

However, in the last sixteenth George De Mar, under Barnes' hustling ride, won going away by a length. Colonel Board took the place by a length and a half from My Son.

Endor was eliminated when he fell at the furlong pole in the stretch and Jockey C. Landolt, who had the mount, narrowly escaped serious injury. Landolt was severely shaken up but was able to walk back to the Jockey quarters in the paddock.

Mrs. S. Mayberry's Eloise, with Leonard up, was winner of the third event, a 6-furlong sprint, leading home the heavily played favorite, Bruno, which ran in E. R. Bradley's silks. Crueity was third. Bruno opened a wide lead in the first quarter mile and appeared a sure winner in the stretch, but ne tired badly, and Eloise, fluishing fast, won by a head. Bruno took a place by half a length.

J. N. Camden's Carin, with McDermottain the saddle, won the second race, which was a mile and 70 yard gallop. Billy Culbertson, favorite, was second, with Unladylike third. Carin jumped away to a fast lead, saved ground all the way, and won in a drive by a nose. Billy Culbertson was probably best but was weakly ridden in the stretch. Unladylike finished gamely and was third three-quarters of a length back.

Jockey Eddie Barnes rode his second winner of the day when he piloted Her Ladyship to victory in the sixth race. Smoldering was second and Turn On third.

Her Ladyship rushed into an early lead, made all the pace, and won by four lengths. Smoldering was second by three lengths.

by three lengths.

Theo Red, making his first appearance of the season, made a show of his field in winning the final event, a mile and sixteenth gallop, with Queer second and Adieu third.

G. U. QUINTET D. C. BOWLING NAUTICAL LEAGUE TOURNEY IS READY FOR REVISED MIDDIES

Meets Navy Tomor- Class Rating Changed, row Afternoon at Annapolis.

A N old rivalry, marked by many spirited and bitter contests, will be renewed tomorrow afternoon, when the Georgetown University Basketball Team visits Annapolis for its big game with the Naval Academy Quinter in Daighren Hall. The Navy game, undoubtedly the most important on the Georgetown schedule, should afford a true test of the Hilltoppers' mettle because the Midshipmen, while not boasting an exceptionally strong team, are always formidable and hard to beat on their own court.

Under the eye of Coach Elmer Ripley, whose system of play is gradually taking root, the Hilltoppers have improved by leaps and bounds during the past three weeks. Of course there is still plenty of room for more improvement, but as things have progressed during the sathings have progressed during the sathings have progressed during the sathing have progressed during Nork, Mesmer and McCarthy, the other members of the varsity quintet, have all flashed an improved brand of shooting in their recent performances, so from the present outlook Georgetown will have more than an even chance of winning over the Midshipmen.

G. U. QUINTET D. C. BOWLING READY FOR MIDDIES REVISED

row Afternoon at Annapolis.

A N old rivalry, marked by many spirited and bitter contests, will be renewed tomorrow afternoon, when the Georgetown University Basketball Team visits Annapolis for its big game with the Naval Academy Quintet in Dalghsen Hall. The Navy game, undoubtedly the most important on the Georgetown schedule, should afford a true test of the Hilltoppers' mettle because the Midshipmen, while not boasting an exceptionally strong team, are always formidable and hard to beat on their own court.

Under the eye of Coach Elmer Ripley, whose system of play is gradually faking root, the Hilltoppers have improved by leaps and bounds during the past three weeks. Of course there is still plenty of room for more improvement, but as things have progressed during the season Georgetown will present a fast, swift-passing, smart quintet against the Middles.

On the shoulders of Don Dutton, its brilliant center and floor man, and on Harold Meenan, high-scoring guard, rest the brunt of Georgetown's hopes tomorrow afternoon against Navy. These players have been the main cogs in the Hilltoppers' attack in the majority of the games.

Nork, Mesmer and McCarthy, the other members of the variety attributed to the members of the variety of the members of the variety attributed to the decrease of the variety attributed to the variety attr

Nork, Mesmer and McCarthy, the other members of the varsity quintet, have all flished an improved brand of shooting in their recent performances, so from the present outlook Georgetown will have more than an even chance of winning over the Midshipmen.

However, the Hilloppers have been very poor in foul shooting, and should tomorrow's game develop into a close battle where foul tosses play a deciding part, the locals seem to be at a disadvantage. Coach Ripley held special drills in foul shooting yesterday to bolster this department of the attack.

American University, the only local quinter in action tonight, is listed to ball attractions throughout the rest of the week, however. The St. Bons-venture and Guilford College Teams will visit Washington for a quartet of gants with local college fives.

ISt. Bonaventure will be the guest of the George Washington Team in tomorrow night's lone local attraction at the H Street Gymnasium, and will face American Jniversity on Thursday in the latter's court.

With entries closing Saturday for the National Duckpin Association tournament, to be field in Baltimore, teams are beginning to come in fast, Secretary George L. Iseman announcing that 9 teams, 7 from Baltimore and 2 from Washingten, brought the entries already in up to 100. With 200 other teams promised from various sections of the country, officials expect to reach the 300-goal set.

This will be a wonderful beginning for a new organisation when it is considered the American Bowling Congress started with but 27 teams.

The two Washington teams entered are the Telephone Society, composed of James B. Smith, C. E. Roop, Lawrence Oeset, W. F. Wolfe and J. A. Deuterman, and the Carry Ice Cream Team, composed of W. S. Hall, Vincent Polyinale, J. W. Brewer, G. E. Baird and W. J. Brewer.

The giving of valentines is a very old custom. An Englishman named Samuel Pepts kept a diary which has since become famous. Two hundred and fity-one years ago, he wrote;

when I was quite a small fellow, just 7 years old. I made a valentine in school. I painted a picture of a violet—and I remember the deep rich color I used—and printed on it:

"Roses are red, violets are blue.

Sugar is sweet and so are you!"

The giving of valentines is a very old custom. An Englishman named Samuel Pepts kept a diary which has since become famous. Two hundred and fity-one years ago, he wrote;

"This morning came up to my wife's because little will Mercer to be her valentine, and brought her name writ upon blue paper in gold letters, done by himself very pretty."

Whoever said it first was supposed to receive a present from the other.

As I write this story I remember that last year I received several valentines from young readers. I wish that I might now send out a few hundred bushel-baskets of valentines to the children who read these daily talks Since that doesn't seem to be practical. I shall tell you here that I am thinking of you, and that I offer you today.

Advice for Parents. DEAR Miss McDonald—May one heartbroken mother help another through your column. You published the letter of the mother whose girl is in normal school but was slapped by her father for entertaining a boy. It may be too late for advice, but I offer it. Four years ago my girl left us. She was all we had and her father meant everything for her good. But one Sunday evening she went riding and when she cance home it was after 11. Her father not only slapped her but he gave the boy a terrible thrashing. The next day our girl did not come home from work, and I have not had one word from her these four years. Why she blamed me, with her father, I do not know. It has broken my heart and his. If I had my girl again, her friends would be welcomed and our home.

Waistlines and Necklines Are New.

MODISH MITZI

So disturbing of the young woman at the right just to drop in on the afternoon when Mitzi is playing bridge. At least it looks that way at list; but Mitzi resigns her place in favor of the intruding female she notices the draped sener neckline of the new trock, and the way the brim turns back on the crown of her hat in three layers. Really smart, thinks Mitzi, and begins noticing the trocks of her other guests. That dress of Polly's has a new neckline, too. One of those exaggerated V necklines that is almost a joke. The player to the right has a tunic frock with the little round standing collar that's so chic and goes so trimly with her felt but with three buttons and a erensed crown.

(All rights protected by The George Multhew Adams Service—Trade Mark Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

Really a profitable afternoon for Mitzler, she got a lot of information about styles. Not only the necklines, but the waistlines of these dresses are interesting. Polly's duplicates the pointed line of the neck in the series of points by which the blouse is attached to the skirt and shows how smart a wide belt may be even when it's half hidden. The next frock has a belf, too, and good heavens, are these waistlines practically normal again? The third dress is draped about the hips to a knot of folds on one side. The fourth has a nongal waistline and a slight blousing to its, bodice. As to the two necklines that weren't visible before—the scarf collar and the caps collar—they're as smart as possible.

which Senstor Norris (Republican), Nebrasks, expressed doubt that this would accomplish the ends desired since the rule could carry no penalty.

Another development of the day was the announcement by Chairman Nye of the Senste Teapot Dome committee that he would support the Walsh resolution since the Montana senstor had assured him that the power inquiry would not interfere with the procedution by Mr. Walsh of the investigation into the mysterious Continental Trading Co. of Canada.

Reviewing the amendments made to his resolution by the interstate commerce committee, Senstor Walsh said he would ask for a separate vote on the one limiting the inquiry into campaign contributions by the utilities to those made in presidential and congressional campaigns.

Would Seek Influence.

Would Seek Influence

The author of the resolution de-clared that the primary purpose was to ascertain what influence, if any, the utilities wield over State and munici-pal regulatory bodies and that he wanted the resolution amended so that such an inquiry should be made. Sen-ator George agreed that this should be done.

ator George agreed that this should be done.

Adverting to the hearings before the committee on the resolution, Senator Walah gave in detail the interests represented there, including State commissions, the joint utilities committee, investment bankers and the National Association of Manufacturers.

"There was one James A. Emery, employe and coworker of the infamous Mulhail, whose infamles were disclosed in 1913 largely through the asgacity and ability of the senator from Missouri, Mr. Reed," Walah said.

The Montanan declared that the "power lobby" had come here even before the Senate met; established luxurious headquarters and obtained the services of those skilled in having legislation passed or defeated.

He added that the newspapers gave the information that Josiah T. Newcombe headed the lobby with C. A. Beasly as assistant, both of whom he said are, associated with the Alabama Power.

Holds Commission Inhibited.

Besider Walsh took the position that the Federal Trade Commission had no power to make the investigation because of a rider to an appropriation bill preventing the use of its funds for the conduct of investigations ordered by a single branch of Congress.

Besides challenging the power of the commission to make the inquiry, Senator Walsh assailed some of its members. He called attention that Abraham F. Myers' work as an assistant attorney general in the Ward baking dissolution case had been the subject of inquiry by a Senate judiciary subcommittee and was dealt with in reports now before the judiciary committee.

The Montanan also attacked William E. Humphrey, chairman of the commission. In that connection, he said, he was surprised that the suggestion for a commission inquiry should have come from the Democratic aide of the Humphrey Incumbency Attacked.

Humphrey Incumbency Attacked.

Walsh declared that Humphrey never should have been appointed a member of the commission, adding that the "Federal trade body never will conduct an investigation as long as Humphrey can control &."

Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia said he would vote to abolish the Federal trade commission because Humphrey is a member of it.

"I have known Humphrey for 36 years," Glass said. "I served in the House with him, and because I know him I would vote to abolish the commission."

mission."

In condidding his address Senator Walsh declared it was "common gossip on newspaper row" that his resolution was going to be defeated because it will dry up the source of campaign contributions in the next election.

Heated Reply by George. In a heated reply to the Montana senator, Senator George demanded that Senator Walsh "be willing to concede all of us here the same courage to with-stand the seductive influences of the lobbytes."

Senator Waish denied any intima-tions of corruption within the commis-sion but he insisted that because of "the bent of mind of Mr. Humphreys," the commission could not make an ade-quate investigation, in his opinion.

Defending his proposal for an inquiry by the Federal Trade Commission, Sentator George said his move "contemplates a fair, calm, dispassionate study of a great business of our country."

"It is passing strange," he said, "that the senator from Montana has so little faith in the Federal Trade Commission when he offered as the most pertinent basis for his inquiry testimony from this same commission."

D. C. STEPHENSON ON STAND

In the brief direct examination, Stephenson testified he had "been mixed up" with Gov. Jackson in politics in 1922 and 1924. He said he knew intimately George V. Coffin, Marion County Republican chairman, and also was acquainted with Robert I Marsh, local attorney, both of whom were indicted with Jackson but have been granted separate trials.

Question Brings Objection.

Guestion Brings Objection.

"Did you have a conversation with Gov. Jackson and Coffin relative to the resignation of William P. Evans?" Prosecutor William H. Remy asked. It was at that point that the defense counsel objected. Evans, son-in-law of former Gov. McCray. was Marion County prosecutor in 1923, and resigned when McCray was indicated on emberzilement charges.

The jury was told today by the prosecution in its opening statement that it would prove that the defendant personally offered to put $10.000 in Gov McCray's desk in December, 1923, if McCray would name McDonald as prosecutor.

Says Jackson Threstened.

Emelie W. Johnson, special assistant prosecutor, told of the alleged efforts to get McCray to accept money in return for McDonald's appointment and of failure to bring it about. He said the prosecution would prove that Jackson, who then was secretary of State, visited Gov. McCray in the executive office and declared, in substance:

"Governor, you must do what we tell you. You can not afford to deny us. We are powerful in Indiana. Stepout in another room. I'll put $10.000 in a drawer in your desk, and when you come back you will find $10.000 and never know where it came from."

The jury was obtained at midmorning, ending a task that had been under way since last Wednesday.

Rafael Urbina, of Mexico, also offered opposition to the Pueyrredon proposal because, while he agreed that the fundamental economic problems of the American peoples must be studied, if real Pan-American progress is to be made, Argentina's suggestion, in his opinion, was too specific, and not general enough. He suggested that a conference be called for all the American countries to discuss all economic problems, at which conference the subject should be broached with greater hope of success. Now, however, he thought it impossible to agree to the Pueyrredon proposal without full study of its effects.

"There was one James A. Emery, employe and coworker of the infamous Mulhail, whose infamiles were disclosed in 1913 largely through the sagacity and ability of the senator from Missouri, Mr. Reed," Walsh said.

The Montanan declared that the "power lobby" had come here even before the Senate met; established luxurious headquarters and obtained the services of those skilled in having legislation passed or defeated.

He added that the mewspapers gave the information that Josiah T. Newcombe headed the lobby with C. A. Beasly as assistant, both of whom he said are, associated with the Alabama MRS. JOHN BARRY RYAN, JR., the former Miss Margaret Dorothy Kahn, whose wedding took place at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, in New York.

Senator Walsh took the position that the Federal Trade Commission had no power to make the investigation because of a rider to an appropriation bill preventing the use of its funds for the conduct of investigations ordered by a single branch of Congress.

Besides challenging the power of the commission to make the inquiry, Senator Walsh assailed some of its members. He calfed attention that Abraham F. Myers' work as an assistant attorney general in the Ward baking dissolution case had been the subject of inquiry by a Senate judiciary subcommittee and was dealt with in reports now before the judiciary committee.

The Montanan also attacked William E. Humphrey, chairman of the commission. In that connection, he said, he was surprised that the suggestion for a commission inquiry should have come from the Democratic side of the chamber.

Walsh declared that Humphrey never should have been appointed a member of the commission, adding that the "Federal trade body never will conduct an investigation as long as Humphrey can control it."

put to him before the argument started.

In the brief direct examination, Stephenson testified he had "been mixed up" with Gov. Jackson in politics in 1922 and 1924. He said he knew intimately George V. Coffin, Marion County Republican chairman, and also was acquainted with Robert I. Marsh, local attorney, both of whom were indicted with Jackson but have been granted separate trials.

Question Brings Objection.

"Did you have a conversation with Gov. Jackson and Coffin relative to the resignation of William P. Evans?" Prosecutor William H. Remy asked. It was at that point that the defense counsel objected. Evans, son-in-law of former Gov. McCray, was Marion County prosecutor in 1923, and resigned when McCray was indicted on embezzlement charges.

Says Jackson Threatened.

Emelie W. Johnson, special assistant prosecutor, told of the alleged efforts to get McCray to accept money in return for McDonald's appointment and of failure to bring it about. He said the prosecution would prove that Jackson, who then was secretary of State, visited Gov. McCray in the executive office and declared, in substance:

"Governor, you must do what we tell you. You can not afford to deny us. We are powerful in Indiana. Step out in another room. I'll put $10,000 in a drawer in your desk, and when you come back you will find $10,000 and never know where it came from."

The jury was obtained at midmorning, ending a task that had been under way since last Wednesday.

Fear of Jackson's power, along with that of George V. Coffin, Marion County Republican chairman, and Robert V. Work of a man whose name James Noe. and a man whose name James Noe. and a man whose name took place," Jones declared. "A man mame! Fred Robinson, a man named James Noe. and a man whose name took place," Jones declared. "A man mame! Fred Robinson, a man named James Noe! and a man whose name took place, "Jones declared." McCray twice after Fred Robinson, then State purchasing agent, has been solicited as McCray's friend to present the alleged proposition.

"10,000 Votes to the Party.

Johnson said State witnesses will show that Jackson told Gov. McCray that AcDonald's appointment as Marlon County (Indianapolis) prosecutor meant 10,000 votor to the Republican party, Johnson added that the State would show that Jackson represented to McCray that Coffin was a restrict was at that point that the defense counsel objected. Evans, son-in-law of former Gov. McCray, was Marion County prosecutor in 1923, and resigned when McCray was indicted on embezzlement charges.

The jury was told today by the prosecution in its opening statement that it would prove that the defendant personally offered to put $10,000 in Gov. McCray's desk in December, 1923, if McCray's would name McDonald as prosecutor.

COMMISSION MEN OPPOSE PATTERSON TRACT FOR MARKET

City Heads Are Urged to Adhere to Recommendations of Southwest Site.

RAILROAD LOCATION DECLARED ADVANTAGE

Hope for Big Profits in Speculative Land Deal Intimated In Letter.

A protest against the use of the Patterson tract for the proposed mar et and a demand that the Commissioners proceed with their plan to lo ate the market in Southwest Washington were placed before the District Commissioners yesterday by a group of 40 commis sion merchants and wholesalers of perishable food products who claimed to represent "the bulk of the wholesale

The letter from this group of business men followed one sent to the Commissioners several days ago by another group which announced that it had completed plans for purchase of the Patterson tract for the market site.

Yesterday's letters said that "it is of me importance to the public that the wholesale market houses be located. at a railroad terminal where carlot re-ceivers of perishable freight can deliver direct from the cars and eliminate the high cost of drayage and rehandling.
This would reduce the price of food sold at wholesale and at retail. Otherwise this cost must be passed on to the ultimate consumers. There are no freight rail facilities into the Patterson tract, and there is no probability that there ever will be."

To Locate in Southwest.

Those signing the letter declared it to be their intention to locate their business houses in the approved area of Southwest Washington. In their argument against the Eck-ington site, the business men declared that:

"It is true that the Patterson tract is close to the Union Passenger Station, but the fact is that he bulk of perish-able freight delivered in this city from the South, North and West is unloaded at the terminals in Southwest Wash-

Passage to and from the Patterson "Passage to and from the Fatterson, tract is limited to Florida avenue, which already carries very heavy traffic movement during business hours, and, if a wholesale marketing center were established there the resulting congestion on this one artry would demoralize the operation of market functions.

"It is claimed that the Patterson tract is close to the center of population and close to the center of the buying public. In reference to this it is to be noted that the buyers for the market stores, hotels, restaurants and other large users of perishable food products who regularly patronize the wholesale market houses and the Farmers' Market have strongly urged the ers' Market have strongly urged the concentration of a wholesale food area in Southwest Washington adjacent to the rail and water terminals and the Municipal Fish Market, where they can organize their quantity buying on the most economical and efficient basis.

"It must be apparent that the dealers who have been prevailed upon to sign the petition for your cooperation in de-veloping the Patterson tract for wholeveloping the Patterson tract for wholesale marketing purposes were not actuated by a sound belief that it is the logical place for this business, but rather by the hope of big profits or bonuses through the promotion of a speculative land deal which could not possibly work to the general benefit of Washington and should not have the sanction of the Board of Commissioners or of Congress."

Another Appraisal Venire Is Ordered

A fourth venire of 50 property owners has been ordered to appear in the United States District Court by Justice William Hitz to enable the Federal Gov-William Hitz to enable the Federal Government to select a commission of three persons to appraise the land needed for the erection of the new United States Supreme Court Building in squares 727 and 728. The Government made a futile attempt yesterday to select a commission, with the aid of the court, although 85 persons were examined. The new venire is to appear February 21. Assistant Attorneys General Henry H. Glassle and A. Leftwich Sinclair appeared for the Government, while more than a dozen attorneys appeared for the owners whose property is to be taken.

Suit for $15,000 Dismissed.

Edward L. Cooney and his wife, Mrs. Etta M. Cooney, 1606 Potomac avenue southeast, who sued the Capital Traction Co. for a total of $15,000 damages for alleged personal injuries to her, dismissed their suits yesterday in Circuit Court through Attorneys Lambert & Yeatman. The suits were based on a collision between a street car and an automobile in which Mrs. Cooney was riding at Sixteenth street and Potomac avenue southeast.

Dr. Abram Simon, rabbi of the Wash-

Dr. Abram Simon, rabbi of the Washington-Hebrew Congregation and former president of the District Board of Education, yesterday accepted an invitation to oppose Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver, ir a public debate on "Shall Companionate Marriage Be Legalized," on Thursday, March 8, in the Washington Auditorium.

A wire received yesterday from Judge Lindsey, by the Leigh-Emmerich Bureau, outlined his views on companionate marriage. "I am happy to debate with the Rev. Dr. Simon the subject of legalizing companionate marriage," he said. "I feel that companionate marriage would put an end to one great and striking evil of American civilization. It would raise the dense fog of the sex obsessions, through which so many Americans, young and old, must move in their daily life."

Bus Line Valuation

Public hearings on the valuation of the motorbus properties of the Washington Rapid Transit Co. will begin tomorrow before the Public Utilities Commission. Data will be submitted in behalf of the company and also by the experts of the commission.

George P. Hoover, counsel for the company, who is engaged in the Sinclair oil proceedings, asked to have the entire hearing postponed until March 19, but the commission, which has twice delayed the hearing at Hoover's request, refused to delay it further. The commission did, however, agree merely to accept the exhibits and defer further proceedings until a time when Hoover could attend.

NEW LEGAL PROBLEM

If he decides that the stockholders have to pass on the agreement before the commission considers it, the additional question will be placed before him whether the hearings have to be deferred until after the March 17 stockholder meetings, or whether the commission can go shead with hearings describes only its decisions. ings deferring only its decisions on merger questions until after the stock-holders express themselves.

Union Wants Guarantees.

The street car men's union replied yesterday to the letter of the Capital Traction Co. In which that corporation refused to try to bind the merged company to a labor policy demanded by the union. W. Jett Lauck and Arthur sturges, economists representing the union, said in their communication to the company that they would the union, said in their communica-tion to the company that they would "oppose to the utmost" consummation of any merger agreement not containing the guarantees the union asks.

ing the guarantees the union asks. They said:

"These fundamental guarantees to employes can not be left, as you suggest, to negotiations between management and employes after the new company has been put into operation."

The guarantees are for the right of employes to organize and enjoy collective bargaining through representatives of their own choice, an eighthour basic day, a just and equitable wage and arbitratoin of all disputes unsusceptible of settlement through negotiation.
